With its exceptional natural beauty, this area has always attracted nature lovers. Because of its outstanding universal value Plitvice Lakes were internationally recognized in 1979 with their inscription onto the UNESCO World Heritage List. In 1997, the boundaries of the national park were expanded, and today it covers an area just under 300 km<sup>2</sup>. The lake system is comprised of 16 named and several smaller unnamed lakes, cascading one into the next. Due to the geological substrate and characteristic hydrogeological conditions, the lake system has been divided into the Upper and Lower lakes. But the park is primarily covered in forest vegetation, with smaller areas under grasslands so the most attractive part of the park – the lakes – cover just under 1% of the total park area.
